

The Innovation Ecosystems Summit

Stanford University, 11 July 2011

STANFORD
UNIVERSITY

Be There!

Candid discussions from insiders - surmounting the hurdles for innovation. Be prepared to ENGAGE with corporate innovation executives, business network orchestrators, technology transfer entrepreneurs, and leading policy analysts.

8am – 8:30am Registration and Continental Breakfast

8:30am - 10am Opening Keynote and Panel

10am – 10:20am Network and Break

10:20am – 12pm Presentations and Panel

12pm – 1pm Lunch and Networking

1pm – 2:10pm Presentations and Panel

2:10pm – 2:30pm Networking and Break

2:30pm – 4:30pm Presentations and Panel

4:30pm – 6pm Networking and Demonstrations

Complex systems have underlying organizing principles. Understanding the properties of scale-free networks will be valuable as we move beyond network topologies to probe the intricate and often subtle dynamics taking place within those complex systems.

- Albert-László Barabási,
Distinguished University Professor,
Northeastern University, Author:
Linked, Bursts

❖ The Global Enterprise as an Innovation Ecosystem

John Roese, Senior Vice President and GM North American R&D at Huawei

❖ Anticipating Bursts in Networked Systems

Matthieu Bastian, LinkedIn, Gephi creator

❖ Investors Panel: GreenTech Innovation Ecosystem

Martha G. Russell, Senior Researcher, HSTAR Institute, Associate Director, Media X at Stanford University
Investors from: Accel Partners, Intel Capital, Catalyst Growth Partners, ARPae

❖ Communications Infrastructures for Urban Innovation

Norman Jacknis, Director IBSG Public Sector, Cisco

❖ Innovation's Vital Signs

Egils Milberg, Executive Director, Washington Economic Development Commission

❖ Resources for Global Leverage

Torger Reve, Wilhelmsen Chair Strategy & Ind Competitiveness, BI Norwegian School of Management

❖ Technopolis Supernovas: Clusters of Clusters

Willem Jonker, CEO, EIT ICT Labs

❖ City Ecosystems in the 21st Century

Jim Spohrer, Director, Almaden Services Research, IBM Almaden Research Center

❖ Visualizing Interfirm Relations in the Converging Mobile Ecosystem

Rahul C. Basole, Research Scientist, Dir of Tech Strategy, Tennenbaum Institute, Georgia Institute of Technology

Registration, speakers, posters, demos: <http://mediax.stanford.edu/summit2011.html>

TAMPERE UNIVERSITY OF TECHNOLOGY